

Benefits offered to EIC Sustaining Members

The Engineering Institute of Canada (EIC) is a federation of fourteen engineering societies to which more than 30,000 engineering professionals and students belong.

Our Vision: *"Engineering for a prosperous, safe and sustainable Canada."
 "Le génie pour un Canada sûr, prospère et durable"*

Our Mission:

Recognize and document engineering excellence. Develop and promote quality continuing education. Initiate and facilitate interdisciplinary activities and services. Lead member societies in defining and building the future of engineering. Advocate the values and benefits of engineering.

Our Main Objectives:

- Continuing Education & CEU Recognition
- Awards of Excellence
- History & Archives
- Multi-Disciplinary Conferences
- Promoting Engineering as a Career
- Services to Constituent Societies
- Membership of engineering societies in the EIC

Organizations interested in supporting EIC's mission and objectives are invited to join its ranks of Sustaining Members. The annual fee is $1000 to be donated to the EIC FUND, EIC's charity. In return, sustaining members enjoy the following benefits:

- Recognition at all EIC-sponsored events, including its Annual Awards Gala at which the most senior engineering distinctions are awarded to deserving academic and industry-based members of EIC's 14 constituent societies.
- Official certificate declaring the organization to be an EIC FUND Sustaining Member.
- Posting of the Sustaining Member's logo on EIC's web site (with url link) and in the EIC Awards brochures.
- EIC FUND donation receipt.

Contact: Guy Gosselin, EIC Executive Director | 613-796-4750 | ggosselin.eic@gmail.com to learn more about Sustaining Member privileges.

Privacy Policy: The EIC will not disclose any information regarding sustaining members beyond that which they supply for inclusion on the EIC web site.